University PE Club Fundraising Guide

Learn how a two-week health. moves. minds. fundraiser can support your club and prepare future health and physical educators

START PLANNING

Support Your PE Club. Inspire Future Educators.

health. moves. minds. offers university PE Clubs a simple way to raise funds while helping prepare future health and physical educators through firsthand experience with a nationally recognized school fundraising and character development program. Many university PE Clubs use their fundraiser as both a fundraising opportunity and a hands-on learning experience for future educators.

Why University PE Clubs Participate

Participating in health. moves. minds. gives future educators firsthand experience with a school fundraising program they'll likely encounter throughout their careers. Along the way, they'll explore standards-aligned instructional resources, fundraising best practices, and ideas they can bring into their own classrooms.

- Raise funds to support conference travel, equipment, professional development, service projects, or other club priorities.
- Gain practical fundraising and program implementation experience that translates directly to future teaching careers.
- Strengthen your club while helping prepare the next generation of educators.

How It Works

- 1 Schedule Your Planning Call
Schedule a Planning Call with your Booster coach to get started and select a fundraising start date.
